My Code Of Ethics For This Column For 1935

My code of ethics for this column for the next 363 days of this year will be....

I will not answer critics as it shows that you are doing something and it should be considered an attainment to be criticized. A good for nothing man is seldom actually criticized.

I will take cognizance of constructive criticism that is if one will be kind enough to either tell me in person or sign his name to letters when writing to me. Don't be a coward and not sign your name as my name is signed to every article I write.

I will try to make friends with all crowds and classes. I want the good will of the masses as well as the good will of the classes.

This will be my code for 1935.
